Torrance High Students End Annual Food Drive

Torrance High School's annual canned food drive, sponsored by the Student Council, terminated last weekend. The canned food drive traditionally is a well supported student body activity, according to Ray Bynum, Tartar student body president.

"This year's drive has been one of the most successful in Torrance High School history," Bynum said. "Students brought canned goods to their first period classes with the idea that the food contributed will be sent to a social service agency to be distributed among the less fortunate families in the South Bay area."

Freshman classes surpassed previous collections. In addition to over three thousand cans of contributed food, the students collected a large box of toys, a bicycle, a tricycle and a scooter.

"We are very proud of the effort of the Torrance High School students in making this collection a success. The Christmas spirit has spread its influence in Tartarville and this collection of food for others is our contribution to the holiday season."

Three Torrance Restaurants Are Listed in Guide

Three Torrance eating establishments have received national recognition in the new 1962 edition of the Duncan Hines travel book, "Adventures in Good Eating." Roy H. Park, editor in chief of the Duncan Hines Institute, announced this week.

The Torrance establishments are among 4500 eating places in North America "Recommended by Duncan Hines." They are the Palms, the Polynesian, and Smith Bros. Fish Shanty Restaurant.

"This is our 27th year of continuous publication and service to the American traveling public," Park said. "It is also our fifth year of continuing surveys — our public opinion audit of eating and lodging establishments. This year we received 60,000 nominations of more than 12,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts from 11,000 people who have the means to eat and stay at the best places in North America." These survey results plus comments from the traveling public and an actual inspection by a staff field representative, Park said, provide the guides for making the final selection of the three out of 100 establishments in the hospitality industry listed in the three Duncan Hines travel books.
